

Look carefully at the next page from the book.

This author is Australian. In Australia, the original brown-skinned people are known as Aborigines. This flag is a symbol of Aboriginal freedom, as there has been a lot of unfair treatment of these people in history.

Things have changed:

- Look at the graffiti in the yard opposite- what are the people there doing?
- Look at what is around the window inside the house.
- Why do you think there is a person on the roof opposite?
- What are the different people on the street all doing?
- How have the gardens changed?
- What do you think Tracy is doing?
- What has happened to the shop on the corner, opposite?

You need to look at the activities and choose which is best for you.

Red hot is for people who want extra challenge.

Spicy is suitable for most.

Mild is good for children who need to build confidence, or have no one to help.

Red Hot

When you organise your ideas into chunks based on a theme, you know we call these sections paragraphs. If you need to remind yourself, look again at the clip:

Task

You are going to turn your plan from yesterday into paragraphs. Each idea needs to be expanded into sentences, with all the writing features you know how to include to make it interesting. Do not number each paragraph or write headings.

Example:

The family	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Story follows events in the timeline of new family • The reader watches stages in the child's life as she grows • They seem like a nice family who are happy together • The family have moved into an ugly area but are trying to make it nicer bit by bit
The garden	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Put bullet point ideas in a list
The town	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Put bullet point ideas in a list

This books follows events in the timeline of a new family. It begins with a young couple who are expecting a baby, and move into a scruffy home. We watch the baby as she grows and can infer what is happening in each stage of her life. They seem like a nice family who are happy together but they do not have a lot of money. Their home is old and ugly but we can see them working hard to make it nicer each year.

Success Criteria

Turn your notes from yesterday into three paragraphs about the book.
Use a variety of punctuation and sentence starters.
Try to think of a logical order for your ideas.
Leave a gap between paragraphs.
Re-read frequently to check your writing makes sense.

Spicy

When you organise your ideas into sections that belong together, we call these sections paragraphs.

You might want to watch this clip again to remind yourself about Paragraphs.

Task

Turn your ideas from yesterday into sentences that make sections of writing - paragraphs. Do not use numbers or headings. Leave a gap between the sections.

Example

The family	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Two parents and a child • Story shows the child growing up • They seem like a nice family who are happy together
The town	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Write 3 ideas about the town
The garden	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Write 3 ideas about the garden

This book shows you pictures of a family who move into a new house. There are two parents and a child. You see the baby grow up into a girl. They seem like a nice family who are happy together even though they seem like they might be quite poor.

Leave a gap and start the next paragraph about the town.

Success Criteria

Turn your notes/ideas into sentences
Include everything you know about correct grammar/punctuation.
Make sure your sentences are clearly grouped in sections with a gap between them.

Mild

Write 2 or 3 short sentences about each of these things:
Draw a picture for each if you wish.

Example

	 Tracy growing up	 The changing town
The changing garden <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • It used to be ugly concrete • They built a new fence • Grass is growing

There is a garden that used to be ugly concrete. The owners put a new fence up and started growing nice grass and plants.
