

Day 5

Reading Focus: Sequence

Success Criteria:

1. Read or listen to the whole story: <https://www.booktrust.org.uk/books-and-reading/have-some-fun/storybooks-and-games/the-dragon-machine/>
2. Look at the pictures below and read the words
3. Draw pictures of the events in the order that they happened in the book
4. Label your drawings with 1, 2, and 3
5. Challenge: Write out the sentence to match your pictures

George made a dragon machine.

Nobody else saw that it was not a dog.

The dragons sat in the bins.

Day 5

Reading Focus: Sequence

Success Criteria:

1. Read or listen to the whole story: <https://www.booktrust.org.uk/books-and-reading/have-some-fun/storybooks-and-games/the-dragon-machine/>
2. Look at the statements below
3. Number and write the statements in the order in which they happened
4. Draw a picture to go with each statement and an emptiness at home where george should have been.

They searched the town.
They searched the fields.

They ventured into the great wilderness looking for george and found him among the broken pieces of his dragon machine.

13.

george and his dreams of dragons went home.

14.

EVERYONE was pleased to see george,
and george was pleased to be back.
He no longer went unseen,
ignored and overlooked.

They made him a huge cake to celebrate his return and gave him a dog as a present.

1. Read or listen to the whole story: <https://www.booktrust.org.uk/books-and-reading/have-some-fun/storybooks-and-games/the-dragon-machine/>
2. Look at the statements below
3. Number and write the statements in the order in which they happened
4. Draw a picture to go with each statement

15.

And then the trouble began. The dragons followed George everywhere.

George drew plans for a machine.

The dragons went unseen, ignored, and overlooked... just like George.

George fed the dragons delicious stale biscuits and smelly cheese.

Everyone was pleased to see George, and George was pleased to be back.

George noticed his first dragon on a wet Thursday.

By morning, all the dragons were gone.