

Task (with links):

1) Read the poem below, it is written from the perspective of the volcano. What is this called?

- a) Alliteration b) Simile c) Personification

3) Write your own volcano poem, as if the Volcano is a living thing. Use the vocabulary in the word bank to help you.

EXT: Can you write a haiku about a volcano? Look carefully at the rules to help you.

Adverbs	Verbs	Adjectives	Nouns
Finally Angrily Grumpily sleepily Lastly First Initially Lazily Furiously	growled towered reverberated hissed shook trembled grumbled bellowed thundered exploded spewed blasted billowed threw burst	vast looming deafening bubbling fiery scarlet blood-red grey-black thick oozing scorching fierce fearsome	vent volcano crater lava gas smoke dust-cloud explosion eruption

I don't like waking up!

I'd been having a lovely long slumber,
 When I was shaken awake.
 At first, I tried not to grumble,
 I ignored the burning rage,
 Then, I released a furious hiss,
 a warning about my anger.
 Next, a red roar flew from my mouth,
 I erupted and exploded!
 Finally, I filled the sky with darkness.
 I filled the land with heat.
 And everybody cried,
 if only you'd stayed asleep.

